

I CAN'T REMEMBER THE TITLE, BUT IT WAS ON A PIECE OF PAPER

WATERLINE | Yukon Water Board

The overall goal is to create transparency and encourage participation in the water licensing process by providing information to the public in an easy to use format.

All information that is submitted with an application, the licence, reasons for decision and reports created by proponents are available through Waterline.

Success!

- Automatic email notifications so that anyone with an account can receive information based on the type of application, specific points within the process, and/or geographic area (First Nation Territory, nearest community or watershed).
- Public comments can be uploaded directly to Waterline and be reviewed

- We worked with WR & CMI inspectors to enhance the reporting section
- Self explanatory

More Success!!

- Improved processes and increased transparency
- Many licences have evolved over time and the history of these licences is now available on the side menu for any licence under 'Other Applications'. We also renumbered licences to improve history tracking and referencing licences easier.
